

November 8, 2017

The Intelligent Transportation Society of Maryland (ITS Maryland) would like to announce this year's scholarship recipients:

- Ms. Kiera Crenny, University of Delaware
- Mr. Adam Gatiba, Howard University
- Ms. Yeming Hao, University of Maryland
- Mr. Ranteg Rao, University of Maryland

In an effort to support and encourage students to pursue careers in the field of transportation, the Intelligent Transportation Society of Maryland (ITS Maryland) has established the student scholarship program. Each year ITS Maryland endeavors to select one graduate and one undergraduate full-time student in a degree-granting program from an accredited college or university within the local region. Additional applicants are selected and awarded scholarships based on yearly ITS Maryland budgets and funding. Applicants are required to submit their transcripts, answer several short essay questions, and join the ITS Maryland chapter. The criteria to win the award is based on need, merit, and recommendations from others in the transportation community. Each applicant was thoroughly reviewed by a scholarship panel consisting of agency, industry and academic transportation professionals. The recipients successfully demonstrated their hard work and dedication to enhancing the safety, security, and reliability of transportation systems in Maryland.

The Intelligent Transportation Society of Maryland (ITS Maryland) is a State Chapter of ITS America, the organization of public agencies, private companies and academic institutions. Together with the U.S. Department of Transportation, they are supporting and promoting the coordinated development and deployment of technologies that will make our transportation systems safer, more effective, and more efficient while providing improved service to the customers and users of the systems.

For more information about ITS Maryland or its scholarship program please visit <http://www.itsmd.org>.